For the attention of Ruth Richardson, Northbank Demolition

Dear Madam,

Re: Northbank Demolition Reference

I have personally had the pleasure of working the Northbank for over 5 years now on projects ranging from £500,000 to £40 Million in value. I have directly contracted with them on a range of package values from around £50k to nearly £2 Million and they have also ran several projects concurrently.

The projects have ranged from full machined demolition projects down to much more intricate alteration & strip out works on grade II listed buildings which have proved to be very difficult challenging ventures.

I can honestly say from my experience and obvious repeated custom that they are one of the leading demolition companies on the market and always strive to deliver a continuous high level of performance across all of their works. Not only in terms of production but in terms of Health and Safety which is obviously any Main Contractors' primary focus when dealing with high risk packages such as this.

I would definitely recommend Northbank Demolition for any project large or small and I think they would make a valued asset to any business by going far beyond their contractual obligations to meet the requirements of the end Client.

Should you require any further information or project details please do not hesitate to contact me direct via the details above.

I trust this meets with your approval and we look forward to working with you again in the near future.

Yours faithfully
RUSSELLS CONSTRUCTION
